DETAILED ACTION

1. In response to applicant's telephone conversation on October 26, 2004 regarding the last Office action, the following corrective action is taken.

The period for reply of THREE MONTHS set in said Office Action is restarted to begin with the mailing date of this letter.

2. The last Office Action was not sent to the address given in the Revocation of Power of Attorney and Power of Attorney received August 5, 2004; hence, the last Office Action follows.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-6, 11, 12 and 14-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mardis in view of Gagnon et al. Mardis discloses the claimed invention except for flat base plate. Gagnon et al. teaches that it is known to provide a case with a flat base plate as set forth at column 8, lines 9-12. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the pedestal of Mardis with the flat base plate, as taught by Gagnon et al. in order to provide a conventional bottom supporting surface. Mardis discloses filtration material 38. For the material to be the well known wire gauze type is considered to be an obvious matter of substituting one type of filtering material for another. As to claims 4 and 14, to provide a plurality of air vents around the opening is considered to be a matter of obvious design choice offering no technical benefit.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 17 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Koplin.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Koplin in view of Mahoney et al. Koplin discloses the claimed invention except for notch. Mahoney et al. teaches that it is known to provide leg for an article of furniture or the like with a notch as set forth at page 1, lines 59-65. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the legs 90 (see Figure 16) with a notch, as taught by Mahoney et al. in order to secure the leg to the cabinet.

Claim Objections

8. Claim 21 is objected to because of the following informalities: Claim 21 is a duplicate of claim 13. Appropriate correction is required.

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claims 13, 20 and 21 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

10. Applicant's arguments filed August 30, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., drawing the air directly from much more spacing and gaps between the upright) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Moreover, applicant cannot show obviousness by arguing the further advantages of the primary reference.

11. Contrary to applicant's remarks that the fan of Mardis is not mounted inside the opening, Mardis discloses that the fan is secured to the enclosure 16 by the screws 36 (see column 4, lines 16 and 17).

12. As to applicant's arguments that Mardis teaches away from using a flat base plate, there is nothing in the claim that would preclude the flat base plate to be the carpet and subflooring of Mardis. Nevertheless, it would have been obvious for the base plate to be integral with the wall of the enclosure as taught by Gagnon et al.

Conclusion

1. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
2. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

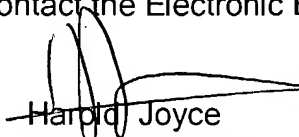

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
